spent within hospital corridors, know first hand the value of our equipment. As our disposal we have laboratories for research, X-ray equipment for accurate diagnosis, modern surgical instruments and drugs necessary for the treatment of the sick. But there are those of us who complain that some facilities are lacking. And maybe their complaints are justified.

Recent surveys conducted in those countries ravaged by war evidence the dire plight of the hospitals. Treating the ill is a make-shift business. Laboratories have been wrecked and libraries scarce. Surgical instruments have been pillaged or lost. Everything that goes for the operation of a hospital is in short supply.

Canada is now in the midst of a campaign to raise funds for the children in Europe and Asia. It is the Canadian Appeal for Children. The money will be used for the purchase of food and clothing for the children. It will be spent to equip hospitals. Until Europe and Asia have recovered from the ill of war, the world is still more powerful than Canada. If you wish to aid in this recovery plan, send your donation to any branch of any bank in Canada. The need is urgent.

THE BREAK IN UNITED STATES MARKET

The fall in commodity prices on the United States markets came as something of a surprise here. It was expected that prices across the border have long been a source of envy in the United States for food production.

Commodity prices in the United States have been evaluating what are likely to be the effects of so drastic a shift in prices. The general feeling is that there is no cause for alarm. There is too great a backlog of capital and goods to be sold. It is hoped to affect general prosperity, it is asserted, while the decline was felt in grains and cereals.

Here, however, the economists discover some reasons for the break: mainly, poor weather and heavy consumer resistance along the line of food prices. It is claimed that there is a time when buying, with prices turning more and more to cheaper goods. A healthy result of this attitude, however, is that it has helped that merchants have begun cutting prices on such items as flour, bread, meat and lard.

It is to be agreed among the experts that whatever the outcome of recent events, they could not expect that wheat was a symbol which had a marked effect upon the grocery corner, in their opinion.

AN APPLE A DAY

The British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association held its 58th annual convention at Penticton last month, and the chief question before the delegates sums up as: what to do with British Columbia apples? Main source of the trouble, according to officials, was the fact that the market in Great Britain has been lost for the time being, coupled with ever increasing competition from United States markets. Quite frankly, it was admitted that the "green grocer" of the grower are just about over.

Another disturbing factor was the revelation that the estimated yield for the 1948 crop was placed as 9,000,000 boxes, 2,000,000 greater than the 1947 harvest. Nor was the Hon. Frank Patterson, minister of agriculture for the province, any more encouraging. In his address to the gathering, he warned his hearers that they had been doing pretty well during the past few years, and they could not expect to escape the effects of the war.

Commenting on this rather gloomy outlook, it may be remarked there was a time when the old proverb, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," was as facts everywhere. But business has been suspended since Friday for a quarter at the corner grocery store. "Gravy" spoken of by the B.C.

officials was too rich for some prairie consumers' stomachs. Having a great deal of influence on the subject, is the pronounced swing toward citrus fruits in many households. Vitamin content in our daily food is stressed more and more and citrus fruits, we are assured, are full of them. They have a further advantage, also—they are cheap.

Whether the doctors—who largely recommend citrus fruits as evidence of the dire plight of the apple which, it is alleged, keeps them away, is anybody's guess. We wouldn't know.

GLOBALLY IMMUNE

"I thought we'd have got rid of the trouble-makers in our place said a number of the works committee. "But that was very necessary. When I heard the word and the think straight, and talked out with them the things most of their minds and hearts, the trouble-makers made no further headway with them."

Immunity to disease is as important as immunity to disease. And trouble-makers throughout the nation of the world could make little headway if the rank and file of citizens were immunized against them.

We already know that, in feeding back, the immune system is the people against ideological attack. Because their stomachs crave food, most of the world's people, and their hearts and minds reject. But a still more powerful weapon has been obtained. If it finds not only stomachs but hearts and minds as well as the immune system, it can help life and helped them see clearly the opportunity for building a new world.

Global immunity, however, was word took more than a little time. It was a word that was used by enemies—more than fling leaders of the world. It was a word to fight of bitterness of heart and mind. It was a word to fight of the stagnant breeding pool of human hope. It was a word to fight of the reserve of human faith and hope. It was a word to fight of the ing out spirit from self-interest and the "gimme" spirit—more purged of the immune system.

CBC Script Editor

When ALICE PRICK was in the prairie, she said in love with the drama—and never got over it. Now, as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's script editor, she spends her days and nights on her own script, deciding if they would make enjoyable fare for Canadian listeners.

Although she's officially listed as script editor, Alice Prick's unofficial title might well be "the radio drama's best friend," for she is more than a radio director of acceptance and rejection slips—from her office stream out letters of encouragement and constructive criticism to writers whose work she has sent to the CBC's drama standards.

Each year, about a thousand radio scripts arrive at the CBC's National Program office in Toronto to be read by two hundred of these are used during the same period, which means that the script editor never has a long wait for keeping busy.

Long before she was thought of as a radio script editor, Alice Prick was enthusiastically examining the drama from every angle. At the University of Alberta she had a fling at acting, later wrote her master's thesis on Maximal Anderson, and acted as adjudicator at several drama festivals. Two summers at the Banff School of Fine Arts gave her the "know-how" of production and playwriting, and she saw a one-act play of her own produced at the school.
